

BRIAN CLIETTE

AS FEATURED IN

BIOGRAPHY

My name is Brian Cliette; I help brands and entrepreneurs find sustainable paths to sales growth on the social internet. I do this using a combination of creativity, market research, and data analysis – to uncover a business’s unique formula for consistent growth online.

I’ve been doing it since social media sprung up from the days of Friendster & MySpace. First, in a personal capacity as a successful online entrepreneur, then as an investment banking associate, university professor, and start-up digital strategist for hire.

The bottom line is that success comes from discovering the unique equation for digital growth, hidden in every company’s online presence. I analyze, test, and expose the fastest routes to rapid growth – using data, automation, and technical marketing. I want to find the gold in the clutter. Then I want to put that gold in front of customers, more often.

In the past decade, I’ve done this for companies like U-Lace, a Mark Cuban Shark Tank funded the company, The Growth Machine, MiquroTech.com (helped secure preseed and seed funding), Pixlee.com, an Andreessen Horowitz funded Saas start-up. I’ve produced millions of downloads of my companies bestselling Amazon books (5 million+ lifetime downloads), created 34 highly rated e-courses online, with over 55,000 students on Udemy.com, generated seven figures in online sales for my affiliate partners and built, brought, sold and failed several five & six-figure businesses.

I want to teach people about the science, art, and hustle of digital entrepreneurship.

GUEST TOPICS

Becoming a SUCCESSFUL Technical Marketer takes education, years of experience, and an entrepreneurial spirit. I can give your listeners/ Followers/Fans unique insight into digital marketing, and what it takes to succeed online. I can chat about:

- My personal story as a digital nomad turned corporate growth hacker and educator.
- Starting, growing, and optimizing a side hustle while keeping your day job.
- How to become an in-demand digital marketer for Start-ups and corporate clients.
- Online e-courses – how to create them so that they become consistent revenue.
- The science of growth hacking and what most marketing companies get wrong.
- Being African American in the Start-up/AdTech space.
- The world of digital publishing, self-publishing, and becoming an Amazon bestselling author.
- Building a six-figure business with $0 spend on advertising.
- The process of building, buying, and selling online businesses.

QUESTIONS TO ASK

- What are your best hacks to differentiate your brand in a crowded marketplace?
- What are the typical lies, myths, and misconceptions about growth marketing?
- What do you mean that being self-employed is the most financially secure you can be?
- Why do you recommend leveraging platforms/marketplaces when getting started online? (Amazon FBA, Udemy, Kindle, App stores ..etc.)
- What would you advise an overbooked freelancer as the next steps to grow?
- Why should everyone learn to code?
- Why do you believe the future of digital business is the intersection of platforms, people, products, and automation?
- What are the distinctions between internet marketers, digital marketers, technical marketers, and growth hackers?